*The temporary framework has been amended on four occasions in 2020. On 4 April 2020 (see Commission Communication) to offer more capacity for COVID-19-related research and development, on 8 May 2020 (see Commission Communication) chiefly to allow funds to be applied for recapitalisation, and on 29 June 2020 (see Commission press release) to support micro and small enterprises and start-ups and encourage private investments. On 13 October 2020 (see Communication) the measures set out in the Temporary Framework are prolonged until 30 June 2021.

**This Danish proposal was the first state aid measure put forward by a member state in the context of COVID-19. On its approval, the Commission’s temporary framework had not yet come into force.

***Under the Brexit withdrawal agreement between the UK and the EU, the United Kingdom is no longer a member of the European Union, but EU legislation applied to it in full during the transition period to the end of 2020 and state aid had to be approved by the European Commission.
